Subject:	Re: General Colin Powell is unable to accept JB Invitation for the conference

Hi Boris
CP sent me a similar note yesterday evening expressing his regrets re being unable to participate. He quoted heavily burdened schedule and too many demands on his time. In spite of his apologetic tone it remains somewhat improper and frustrating.
But I think it couldn't be turned back. We have to find someone else.
Re the advisory board telco I'm waiting for your note re timing.

Dear Boris,

Apologies for the additional Email on the topic of Next Generation, but sadly we just received notification that General Colin Powell will not be able to attend the Summit after all due to conflicting time committments. Ehud Barak has already been informed. This is rather surprising since we were told that his signature was just a matter of formality. We will discuss next steps with the summit team and keep you posted.

Kind regards,
Nicole

Dear Daniel:

Please accept my apologies for sending the message to you via email. I wanted you to know at the earliest possible time that General Powell is unable to accept Julius Baer's kind invitation. I have been told that his office has already communicated this news to Mr. Barak and I truly hope that I was able to reach you before you heard it elsewhere.

I know the he wanted to accept your invitation, but due newly confirmed commitments during the time frame of your event, it isn't possible for him.

If you would like to speak with me about this personally, please let me know a good time and telephone number with which to reach you before 11:00AM in Singapore. I am sure that this news comes as a significant disappointment and is probably confusing. Honestly, I am surprised too.

I will now begin to explore options for you. There are great alternatives that can deliver similar content with the same stature.

Again, would prefer to tell this to you personally and I am sorry for conveying this to you in an email. You worked so hard on this and deserve more than that.

Meredith
